We’re Going on a Journey

Three People who have just been arrested
In 2016 Nancy Nelson, Deena Romoff, and Margie Heller, members of the activist group ‘Raging Grannies’ were arrested for blocking the railroad tracks to protest the movement of oil and coal trains through Spokane in Washington in 2016. “We were willing to be arrested to stop climate change,” said Nancy Nelson. “With the oil and coal trains coming right through our city, this is a very serious issue, which we have to address.”
We’re Going on a Journey

Astronaut
Mae Carol Jemison is an American engineer, physician and NASA astronaut. She became the first African American woman to travel in space when she went into orbit aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour on September 12, 1992.
We’re Going on a Journey

A Ballet Dancer
Carlos Acosta was born in Cuba. He was the youngest of 11 children. He loved football and break dancing. He learned ballet in Cuba, and grew up to be a world class ballet dancer.
We’re Going on a Journey

A Syrian Refugee
Syrian refugee Rami Basisah is an accomplished violinist who had to flee his country because of war. His father was an architect engineer and his mother was a teacher. Rami learned violin from a young age. He now lives in Germany, and recently played the violin at the Royal Albert Hall.
We’re Going on a Journey

Two Farmers
Katie Baldwin & Amanda Merrow grow organic vegetables and herbs at Amber Waves Farm in New York.
We’re Going on a Journey

Two African Women
Petrider and Upendo

Petrider and Upendo are holding the poster. Together with their friends, they are members of the Youth4Change Tanzania Team. They are young activists who are working to bring positive change for young people in their country. Visit them at this link www.youthforchange.org/tanzania-youth-team

Two African Women